Cranberries are considered superfoods rich in antioxidants and vitamins and are linked to various health benefits. Cranberry juice is one of the most suggested traditional ways of THC detoxification. As per Dr. Adie Rae, a neuroscientist and scientific adviser, this detox drink does not completely remove THC content from the urine or body. Rather, it tricks the drug test by fueling up the urine sample with ample proteins and vitamins. The THC might remain in your body, but it will possibly not show up in the drug test's lab report.
